

More Intelligent. Not more of the same.

Willis Insurance and Risk Management is different. We're an independent family business, so we work without distraction or compromise.

We value simplicity and intelligence, combining both to create innovative ideas that challenge convention and give our clients a commercial advantage.

Willis Risk Management deliver numerous training courses, held primarily in our offices in Belfast. Businesses can enquire in bespoke onsite training at their own premises.

Highfield Level 2 Award in the Control of Substances Hazardous to Health (COSHH)

This course is a great introduction for those who are responsible for writing COSHH assessments or are required to manage hazardous substances for their organisation. This includes workplaces in areas such as manufacturing, cleaning, healthcare, transport, utilities and office environments as well as classroom environments.

For learners who have access to any environment were coming into contact with hazardous substances. Demonstrating the principles of Hazardous substances in the workplace, hazards and risks to health caused by hazardous substances, risk assessments for safe use of hazardous substances and precautions and procedures to control the risk of hazardous substances.
